Shared validation distributions: physical metrics, not native training losses